In Memoriam

WAYNE ELBERT WINN

August 25, 1914 — February 29, 1932

Tho' lost to sight, to mem'ry dear
Thou ever wilt remain;
One only hope my heart can cheer, —
The hope to meet again.

Yes, life then seem'd one pure delight,
Tho' now each spot looks drear;
Yet tho' thy smile be lost to sight,
To mem'ry thou art dear.

— Finley

President's Address

PARENTS, Teachers, and Friends:

The class of 1933 has conferred upon me the honor of welcoming you to our Commencement Exercises which will, I hope, give you a fair view of our advancement during our high school career.

It is, furthermore, my privilege to introduce to you those of my classmates who have won the honor of addressing you. I refer to those classmates who have won the distinction of being the outstanding scholars in the class, those who have gained their right by popular vote of the class, and those who have been chosen by the faculty.

CLASSMATES:

Our course through high school has been happily unmarred by any catastrophes, but, even if there had been, they would have been offset by the numerous enjoyments we have received, the lasting friendships we have made, and, lastly, the knowledge we have obtained.

We have taken part in many activities with the sole objective of improving in whatever we did, but the benefits absolutely discounted any labor which was required of us.

Now the class nears its final meeting as a high school group. Then it will disband, and its members go in different directions to assume their chosen vocations and never, perhaps, be united with a fellow member of the class of which they were once a part. This period we have just completed now seems to us but a brief stay on our life's journey, and many now sorrow that it is ended. However, everyone will set out, I know, with the desire to aid the efforts of posterity, and with that thought how can any of us help but succeed?

James Henry Leh

Salutatory and Essay

PARENTS, Teachers and Friends:

In behalf of the Class of 1933, I extend to you a sincere welcome to the Class Day exercises of our graduation.

We wish to show our gratitude and appreciation for our opportunities made possible by our parents and teachers. The time has come for us now to show them that their interests and sacrifices for us have not been in vain.

Deep Streams

Deep streams run still—but why? William Smith said, “Not because there are no obstacles, but because they altogether overflow those stones or rocks round which the shallow stream has to make its noisy way.”

The deep stream is the man who is big enough to overcome the obstacles and difficulties which confront him in life; the shallow brook the man who has not the initiative to surmount the hardships of his career. As the rain adds drops of water to the stream, so should each one add qualities to his own character in order to pass the troubles of life without complaint or lament. That a man draws undue attention does not prove he is great. To go through life peacefully, to accomplish something worthwhile—that should be one’s aim in life.

Everyone can become great in his own small world, be it his home, his community or even greater—his nation, by acquiring the qualities necessary for making one’s life an accomplishment worthy of one’s existence.

What is life without faith? Have faith in yourself and in your fellow men. Be confident in your ability to attain the goal you have in view. But how can you have faith in others, if others do not believe in you? Be honorable. Be trustworthy. Give others a foundation for their faith in you. “The only faith that wears well and holds its color in all weathers is that which is woven of conviction and set with the sharp mordant of experience.” So said Lowell.

He who has courage has a great opportunity for overcoming obstacles in his path. The fearless man, the undaunted, can pave his way through life. “The only thing we have to fear is fear itself.” Would the Pilgrims have founded America, our country, if they had not had courage? Would Lincoln have preserved our country and our freedom if he had not had courage?

Be hopeful, but do not expect too much. Disappointment usually follows failure to obtain the greatest pleasures and anticipations of life. The Romans had an adage, “There is no greater evil than not to be able to bear what is evil.” This does not mean that a person should endure disappointment, but that cheerfulness and willingness to face the future will weaken the blow of his failure to realize his expectations. Samuel Johnson said, “He that raises false hopes to serve a present purpose, only makes a way for disappointment and discontent.” Richard Le Gallienne has written,

“But bear to-day whate’er
To-day may bring
’Tis the one way to make Tomorrow sing.”

Don’t be satisfied with your present position in life. Place your goal at an unattainable height so that, in some way, you may grasp one of the topmost rungs of the ladder of life. Consider as an example of unselfish ambition that of the late Calvin Coolidge who rose from the position of a humble lawyer in Northampton to the enviable station of President of the United States of America, as an irreproachable and responsible office of authority.

Ambition and perseverance go hand in hand. If a person has enough ambition for acquiring his goal, he will persevere until he reaches the object of his desire. Lincoln, although he had few opportunities to raise his hopes of success, studied and struggled for knowledge by his own accord.

Thus, as a deep stream runs smoothly over the stones, so may a man with these qualities, faith, perseverance, ambition, hope and courage overcome the obstacles that confront him and attain success.

"A sacred burden is this life ye bear
Look on it, lift it, bear it solemnly
Stand up and walk beneath it steadfastly;
Fail not for sorrow, falter not for sin
But onward, upward, till the goal ye win."

Addition or Subtraction

AMONG the attributes inherent in man, two of the most important are the mind and the opportunity of life. The intellect is our storehouse of impression and memory which is continually being developed through the understanding of new things in observation and study. With this is the faculty for reasoning. Together they are commonly called the mind. Opportunity (not in the limited meaning of an opening for work, but in the broader sense of the possibility for constructive action in life) is closed to none. All can aid in raising the level of mankind. The mind furnishes the motivating power; life, the opportunity. Each can do his bit in bettering, beautifying and making the world a more harmonious whole.

The mind because of its natural position is forced to make use of a rather damageable tool, the body. Physical deficiencies often limit the action in which one may take part, but they do not close it entirely. However, in spite of the gravity of most disorders, it may be said that usually the person afflicted may take a useful part in life. The world is full of living examples of determination and success in conquering physical obstacles. Helen Keller, forced to pass most of her life deaf and blind, has succeeded in her chosen career, that of aiding others of a similar fate to lead as normal a life as possible under their circumstances. Our president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, despite the paralysis of his legs in middle age, has risen to the highest position in the land. These outstanding personalities who have succeeded in spite of difficulties, and many others, less in the general knowledge, by their achievement show that the average person's troubles do not close life's opportunity for accomplishment.

Taking a worth-while part in life does not mean recognition or fame. Praise does nothing but appeal to one's vanity, an only too human trait which has spoiled many lives by its effect on the personality. At best the flattery of the crowd is fickle and valueless. The working inhabitants of the earth are too busy and interested in their own tasks to go around slapping every worthy one on the back. At any rate, if this were the case no good would be done but to make humanity a conceited people like a Central American army, in which every member is at least a general, wearing bright medals in empty pride. Fame is fleeting; glory, short lived. The only lasting thing on earth is mankind in its blundering advancement. One's contribution to this may be unnoticed, but its general effect on the universe goes on forever.

The vocations open to men are many and diversified; the one a person chooses or is placed in by fate is the field where he does his work on earth. The industrious farmer makes real addition in clearing a field and forcing it to yield produce. By dint of his own labor and diligence he makes an admirable contribution. His is the satisfaction and moral contentment that only success can bring. He may truthfully say, "My part is small, but oh! how necessary!"

Then there is the city-worker whose contribution is much different from the farmer's. Sharing in the advancement of the nation, he takes an interest in his fellow men; his ready labor adds to the industrial wealth of the nation: in short, he is a link in the chain of mankind and plays a useful part as such.

The legislator is another example of a worker in life who is, however, in an executive and noted position. His part is that of making laws or passing judgment on proposed measures and old laws as to their actual value to the people he represents. As he intelligently fills the trust of his fellow men, he is helping to make the world a more harmonious whole.

There are countless other vocations that afford opportunities for leading normal lives socially constructive. We can all do a bit in raising the present level of civilization. Unfortunately there are some men who live or take their parts so badly that they subtract from the value of the world.

A man of one type because of thwarted ambition or general inability to adapt himself to life refuses to take a constructive part in the labor of his fellow men. A cynic, he walks alone. Friendless, he lives within himself where there can be no peace or contentment, for his mind is corrupted with a gloomy outlook. Usually failure has overwhelmed him with such force that he is morally unfit to go on with the battle of life. Although he retards the advancement of civilization, he is to be pitied and not condemned. He is an imperfect tool; his mind is wasted.

There is another of a meaner calibre whose courage has never been broken by disappointment or failure; he is merely lazy. A failure before he starts, he believes in the effortless phrase, "Easy come, easy go." He draws his living, his self from the world; yet he fails to return anything to it because of his laziness and inefficiency. He has been entrusted with a mind, the most perfect tool. He has been granted life and unlimited opportunity for action. Notwithstanding these gifts, he remains like a careless miner with pick and shovel in hand and a gold mine beneath his feet, all the while scratching the top aimlessly, failing to dig down with planned decision.

The time always comes when each man must ask himself, "Shall I wait for the gold mine to come to me or shall I dig with my fellow men; from a mortal self leave an immortal addition to life after death."

Memories

WHAT would we do if we had no memories to prevent us from becoming inhuman and machine-like in this mechanical age? What, if not memory, could transport us from such a time of world agitation and politics to a land of peace and contentment, to a land where we might cast aside all our cares and worries, to a land of Utopia?

By memory, I mean memory of a pleasant sort. I must admit that some of our memories bring sorrow to our hearts and tears to our eyes. Some one may say that he has but unpleasant recollections. Him I must reprimand for leading his life in such a way that he has never brought pleasure and gladness to himself or to someone else. Perchance, someone may ask about the sorrowful memories caused by absence or by death. To this I have but one reply, albeit perhaps a lame one, that sorrow should not reach the heart, when there is the realization that sometime, somewhere, in the land beyond, loved ones will meet again. This, I think, should dispel all sorrow and even bring joy by an anticipated meeting in the future. Since I must take an average, not an individual case, I choose to dwell on the pleasant memories because they outnumber the unpleasant. Therefore, I maintain that memories are among our greatest pleasures.

Take, for example, Dad's case. Every father, whether he is rich or whether he is poor, has worries. He may be a millionaire with a fine house, luxuries and social distinction; he may be a poor man who doesn't even own the roof that shelters him — whatever his class, whatever his worldly possessions, sometime, perhaps all of the time, he is beset with worries of some nature.

If he is of patrician rank, he probably remembers the first pony or automobile that he was given. He remembers the day when he went into business, perhaps with his father. All of his past happenings flood back on the wings of memory to placate his tired spirit.

The pleb's memories, because of different conditions, are perhaps more to be cherished. As he trudges home, tired and discouraged from the long day's grind, and a tanned, barefoot boy runs to meet him, he remembers his own youth as portrayed by Whittier's poem which goes:

"From my heart I give thee joy,
I was once a barefoot boy:
Mine the sand-rimmed pickerel pond,
Mine the walnut slope beyond,
Mine, on bending orchard trees,
Apples of Hesperides!
Ah! that thou couldst know thy joy
Ere it passes, barefoot boy!"

Lovable old patriarchs — both must have an intermission, an enjoyment, and dependable memory comes to the rescue. However, so, too, must Mother have a shift from her duties.

If she is the wife of the rich man, she has at least one special duty — that of firmly lodging herself in the portals of society. Hers is the duty of preparing teas, parties and other social functions. Surely, she deserves the reprieve which memory offers! Try what she may to take her mind from troubles, she sooner or later resorts to recollections, to the days of yesterday, to memories.

The poor woman probably has a harder position because her fatigue is both physical and mental. She labors hard all day, and, when night falls, and she is alone with her husband, together they go over their long struggle, each happy that the other has shared the bitter with the sweet. When they finally retire, they do so with rested minds and a determination to carry on.

Lastly, allow me to picture the reunion of a graduated class — your class, for instance. Once again your dear old principal rises to speak to you. Once more you live your high school days. Once more you are with your dearest friends and classmates. You see clearly your high school days from the time you entered as a freshman until the day when, a proud yet somewhat sad senior, you received your diploma and went out of the school for the last time as a student. When the reunion finally ends, you leave, with friendship in your hearts, to resume your life's struggles.

Man has done wonders. He has invented machines that will carry the human voice from one end of the earth to the other in a few seconds. But what, I ask, are man's inventions to the clear, complete, vivid, sweet recollections and pictures that memory gives to us at any time, willingly and free-of-charge?

Yet, what I have tried to say in many words, I found expressed very concisely in this verse —

"Oft in the stilly night

Ere slumber's chain has bound me,

Fond Memory brings the light

Of other days around me."

Ivy Song

We plant thee here, oh ivy green,
 With thoughts of hours departing,
 An emblem of commencement time
 And the ways on which we're starting.

We plant thee here, oh ivy green,
 The ties of mem'ry binding,
 To guide the Class of Thirty-three
 On life's pathway steep and winding.

History of the Class of 1933

Time: 1943.

Place: A Garden in June.

Characters: A Boy and a Girl.

("Bob" Murphy and "Peg" Mahoney)

CURTAIN rises on a garden scene. The stage floor is covered with green grass carpeting such as that used to cover the ground at cemeteries at time of funerals. On the "grass" are placed brightly upholstered wicker chairs, a chaise-lounge, a sun-dial, etc., settings familiar to summer-home gardens. In one of the chairs, or on the chaise-lounge is a Girl, dressed in sport clothes, reading a huge yellow portfolio. She is utterly absorbed in her book and evidently derives a great deal of pleasure from reading it. She frowns and chuckles to herself frequently and does not see — enter a Boy, dressed in white flannels and a dark sport jacket.

Boy — (Clearing throat) Ahem! (no response) Ahem!

(Surprised, the Girl looks up.)

Girl — Why, "Bob" Murphy! How you surprised me! — Sit down. — Where have you been? You're late.

Boy — (Sitting, sprawled out, in a wicker chair) I know I'm late, but I got talking and you know what that means. Anyhow, you've been busy. Gee, it's hot. — (Pause) — What're you reading?

Girl — Something that'll interest you — The History of the Class of 1933!

Boy — (Showing interest) — The History of the Class of '33!! At G.H.S.? Gee, it was a long time ago when we were there. Ten years, wasn't it? And just such a day as this that we got through — graduated, passed out into the cruel, cold world, you know.

Girl — Uh-huh. It was a day just like this and it was ten years ago this very day. That's what made me dig out this old book to read over what we did in those old days. It's a scrap-book I kept and I seem to have jotted down all the important things that happened. Want to look at it? It's too hot to do anything else.

Boy — You bet I do! We'll start right at the beginning and go straight through. O. K.? Move over so I can sit down.

Girl — (Moving over and making room for the Boy.) Sure. (Opens book.) Here we are right on the first page. It starts out very formally — I was like that when I was a Freshman. Listen to this: "The Class of nineteen hundred and thirty-three entered Greenfield High School in the fall of 1929. There were almost three hundred of us — all very green, very ignorant Freshmen." (Looking up from reading.) Do you remember that day, "Bob"? Weren't you thrilled to pieces and weren't you terribly scared of all the upper-classmen? I think I got lost a hundred times that first week. — But we'll go on. Here it tells about class elections: "The second week after our entrance, class elections were held. It was the first meeting of the Class of '33 and we elected Stella Crowell, President; "Bob" McCain and "Peg" Mahoney, Vice-presidents; Minnie Solomon, Secretary; and "Jimmy" Leh, Treasurer." Wasn't that an Executive Committee!

Boy — Yeah. But say, "Peg," didn't you jot down anything about those fairs we used to have? I remember cheering my throat out and being hoarse for two days after those things. Wasn't there something about a cheering cup and a Track Meet?

Girl — Sure. Don't you remember? We used to compete against all the County schools at the Fair and it was the big aim of our young hearts to beat Turners at cheering.

Boy — Well, did we?

Girl — We most certainly did! But listen a minute. "After the Fair school activities quieted down until the Freshman Reception, at which time the Class of 1932 gave a Freshman Party, which officially welcomed the Class of 1933 into G.H.S." (Looking up) Do you remember that? I sprained my ankle in Gym so I could only go and look on, but everyone had a perfect time and felt like a real fixture in the High School after that.

Boy — But didn't we do anything except elect officers, cheer ourselves hoarse, and be "received"? Seems to me I remember something about our unusual sports record —

Girl — You most certainly do! It says here that we had in the field of sports one of the most outstanding Freshman classes ever to enter G.H.S. Want to know who was on what? It says that on the Track Team — that must mean at the Fair — there were “Bob” McCain, “Billy” McGahan and Albert Morrell; on the Football Team there was “Billy” McGahan; and for Baseball there were “Charlie” Mroz and “Paddy” Lavin. Not bad for Freshmen!

Boy — Well, what about Basketball? Didn't we do anything there?

Girl — Sure we did! That's your favorite sport, isn't it? But it seems “Charlie” Mroz was the only one to represent us our first year.

Boy — Well, he can represent anything and do a good job of it. What's next?

Girl — That's all for that year, I guess. When we came back we were no longer Freshmen, but Sophomores.

Boy — Yup — “wise fools.”

Girl — Maybe, but we weren't very foolish when we elected “Jimmy” Leh for president that September.

Boy — I'll say not. Nor when we chose for the rest of the committee Orrin Lincoln, “Peg” Mahoney, “Paddy” Lavin and “Charlie” Mroz.

Girl — No, but it says in my book here — well, listen: “After class elections the class was busy planning for welcoming the new Freshman Class with the very best Reception ever given in G.H.S.” Remember that, “Bob”? What an affair that was! I wonder if after all these years “Jimmy” Leh still remembers collecting pumpkins and autumn leaves for the Dance and if “Chuck” Benjamin, “Herbie” White and “Eddie” Aaron remember climbing out on the beams in the Gym to hang the decorations? I was sure they were going to fall off and break their necks and spoil our dance.

Boy — Did they? I don't seem to remember.

Girl — “Did they!” Of course they didn't! Didn't we succeed in having the very best, the very biggest and most exciting Reception the Gym ever saw?

Boy — So we did. Sorry. What's next? Any sports?

Girl — Any sports indeed! You know very well we always had sports! What's the matter with you?

Boy — Hot, I guess. But go on. Tell me about our sports.

Girl — There are a lot of them. Want to hear them all?

Boy — Every last one of them. Go on. Who did things at the Fair?

Girl — “Billie” McGahan and “Charlie” Mroz.

Boy — How about football? Did we beat Turners that year?

Girl — We did, but I doubt if we would have if it hadn't been for “Paddy” Lavin, “Billie” McGahan and “Charlie” Mroz.

Boy — We had a hockey team, too. Who played on that?

Girl — “Tal” Griswold and “Ken” Suhl. But look, here it tells about basketball. You should remember that — you played that year.

Boy — Sure — there was me and Guido Marini, Randolph Mason, “Chet” Ozdarski, and “Paddy” and “Charlie.”

Girl — It seems to me “Paddy” and “Charlie” were in about everything.

Boy — They were. They played baseball, too, along with “Bill” McGahan and “Jerry” Dwyer.

Girl — Listen. It says here: “A new sport was started in Greenfield High School that year and it was Golf. Representatives from our class were: Burleigh, Chyz, Griffin, Newhall and “Bill” Pulaski. The team had a very successful year, winning the greater portion of their games.”

Boy — I remember that. They were good. That was the year “Eddie” Chyz made his famous hole-in-one, wasn't it?

Girl — I think so — either that year or when we were Juniors.

Boy — Oh, are we Juniors already?

Girl — Uh-huh. And we've elected class officers.

Boy — Who are they?

Girl — Let me see. There was “Billie” McGahan for President, “Charlie” Mroz and “Peg” Mahoney for —

Boy — (interrupting) Say, listen. It seems to me you're doing a lot of talking about yourself. Did you have a monopoly on that office?

Girl — “Charlie” Mroz and “Peg” Mahoney for Vice-presidents, “Marg” Cushion — that's my pal — for Secretary and “Jimmy” Leh for Treasurer.

Boy — There's “Jimmy” popping up again, too — well, what else did we do that year?

Girl — Oh, nothing very exciting ever happens Junior year. We lost the cheering cup at the Fair, but we did manage to get honors in track, with the help of "Dave" Bernard and "Charlie" Mroz.

Boy — How did football go that year?

Girl — Oh, we had a corking team that year! What we didn't do to Turners! And will you look at the list of Juniors on the squad! There was "Sammy" Ayer, "Bob" Frary, "Paddy" Lavin, Frank Mauri, "Bill" McGahan, "Charlie" Mroz, "Dave" Toomey — that was the year he got all smashed up — "Bill" Northway — and you.

Boy — Me?

Girl — You! Don't you remember?

Boy — Seems as if I do recall something about the boys splashing around in the mud over in Turners and crying over "Dave" Toomey's collarbone.

Girl — "Over his collarbone?"

Boy — Sure. That's what he broke.

Girl — Oh. — Well, we had a good basketball team, too. "Euie" Lapointe, "Paddy," "Charlie," and "Bob" Murphy — that's you — were on it.

Boy — Me?

Girl — Yes, you! Say, what's the matter with you? Is the heat going to your head?

Boy — No, nothing goes to my head.

Girl — Well, we'll let that go. But here it tells about baseball —

Boy — Say, aren't you forgetting something? How about girls' basketball?

Girl — Oh, that's right! It says here that "Tiny" Romanovich was our shining light there.

Boy — She and "Red" Lalor and "Cille" Frégeau could play some game.

Girl — Yeah, but let's hurry up. We haven't even come to Senior year yet. Let's see. In baseball we beat Turners that year, too. Of course on the team there were "Paddy," "Billie," "Charlie," and "Jerry" Dwyer, along with some new candidates. They were: Bonk, Crouse, and Voetsch.

Boy — Gee, we were beginning to be pretty active, weren't we? And you wrote down that our golfers won six games out of their ten and tied two.

Girl — Quite a record, wasn't it? Tennis was started that year and "Chuck" Benjamin and "Jimmy" Leh were the outstanding players from our class. — Oh, here's a note about the "Exponent"! We'd almost forgotten that! "Stell" Crowell was Managing Editor then and in June she was elected President of W. M. L. S. P.

Boy — "W. M. L. S. P." What under the sun was that?

Girl — "Western Massachusetts League of School Publications." We were a member of the League and what good times we used to have at the Conventions — especially with the inevitable tuna-fish!

Boy — That seems to be all you have down about Junior year.

Girl — Uh-huh — and now we're Seniors!

Boy — Didn't we feel big! We started right out by electing "Jimmy" Leh, President, I remember that. And you were Vice-president for the fourth time. You and "Jimmy" held offices all four years, didn't you?

Girl — I guess we did. But who else was on the Executive Committee? I must have it written down somewhere. Oh, here. "Cap" Pulaski was the boy Vice-president, "Ev" Hennessey, Secretary and "Eddie" Aaron, Treasurer.

Boy — Yes, and you went on to say here: "In Senior year G.H.S. won honors at the Fair, not only in Track, but also by carrying off the cheering cup. Anita LaLancette, "Stell" Crowell, Harry Koch and "Bob" McCain were our cheer-leaders. Since our school colors had been changed from purple and white to green and white, the School Song and all the cheers had to be revised."

Girl — Yes, and right after the Fair we settled down for our last lap in G.H.S. The boys started football and the girls started studying — some of them.

Boy — We had a pretty good team that year, too. What we didn't show Salem! "Dave" Toomey was captain and besides him there were Frary, Griswold, Hebert, Ayer —

Girl — And of course Lavin, Mroz, McGahan, and we can't forget Murphy. And "Jimmy" Donovan was manager.

Boy — Turners beat us, though.

Girl — Yes, Turners beat us, but we put up a good fight. Do you remember that game? The band made its first appearance in its new green and white uniforms —

Boy — And the next night we had a football dance.

Girl — What a time we had getting ready for that! "Jimmy" had appointed a Dance Committee and how we hurried around to make a big event out of our first Senior Dance!

Boy — It was a big event, too. We had a few Tea Dances and they were big events, too.

Girl — But we skipped something. Here it tells about our Senior Play, "Nothing But the Truth." It says: "'Ev' Hennessey and 'Chuck' Benjamin had the leads, and with the help of Anita LaLancette, 'Cap' Pulaski, Herman Barger, 'Don' Newhall, Ursula Hine, Hazel O'Hara, 'Stell' Crowell, 'Jim' Leh and Minnie Solomon, they succeeded in making it one of the most interesting and best-performed pieces of dramatic work seen in the High School in some time. The attendance was large and the proceeds added a nice sum to our Year Book fund."

Boy — Our "Exponent" was under way by then, too, with you and Herman Barger as Editors-in-chief.

Girl — Yes, what arguments we used to have over that paper and the "Walter Winchell Features"! But listen — "Basketball was underway then, and this year 'Charlie' Mroz, star from our Freshman year, was captain. 'Joe' Reddin managed the team and among those who starred, besides 'Charlie' and 'Paddy' Lavin, were: Lapointe, Ozdarski, Burleigh, Dwyer, Uzdavinis, and Murphy. There were several others, too, who showed up well." Do you remember the game against Turners, "Bob," when they beat us by one point? Was that exciting!

Boy — I'll say it was! But the girls played basketball then, too. "Tiny" Romanovich captained and Anita LaLancette was manager. You wrote down here that Mary Lalor, Lucille Fregeau, Virginia Larabee, Rachel Reed, and June Garrand were the stars from the Class of '33.

Girl — They were. — Oh, we're forgetting something. Archery! I jotted down here that Newhall, Rist, Sanderson, and Bergeron were the mainstays of our Class along that line. And in Tennis and Golf we had about the same as Junior year — each team making a fine record.

Boy — Baseball, with "Paddy" Lavin, captain; Luther Thompson, manager; and such stars as Mroz, McGahan, Hebert, Voetsch, Bonk and Desautels was successful, too — Gee, we were pretty active in sports then, weren't we?

Girl — Not only in sports. We were pretty busy in about everything. Remember Student Council? You were President. And music. Remember the Operetta? What was it — "Chonita?" Ida Bardwell, Luther Thompson and Herman Barger carried off the honors for us.

Boy — Yes, it seems to me that with the Synco-pators, the Orchestra, the Band, Chorus and the Operetta, our musicians were pretty busy.

Girl — Our students were going strong, too. Near the end of the year Orrin Lincoln and Minnie Solomon were announced as Valedictorian and Salutatorian, with "Cap" Pulaski and "Don" Newhall claiming the honors for Class Day speakers.

Boy — The Year Book Staff was appointed then, too, and Senior Prize Speaking was held.

Girl — We had an Alumni Dance, too, which was a big success and before we knew it there were Exams, the Banquet, the Commencement Dance, Class Day, and Graduation itself!

Boy — I guess those were pretty busy days.

Girl — Yes, but we've just touched on the high lights. Remember the hustle there was over class pictures and the History and the Prophecy of the Class for Class Day? "Stell" Crowell and "Nick" Poulos were Prophets and you and I gave the History. Remember?

Boy — Sure I remember. Golly, we've done a lot since then, haven't we?

Girl — I should say we have! But do you know, college wasn't a bit more interesting or any more exciting than those four years at G.H.S. I wish we had more class reunions, don't you? I'd love to see some of the old crowd, wouldn't you?

Boy — I'll say. (Pause.) Say listen, "Peg," aren't some of the gang around here in the city? I met "Jimmy" Leh the other night and I know "Cap" Pulaski, "Dave" Toomey and —

Girl — Why, that's right! And there's "Stell" Crowell, "Ev" Hennessey, "Marg" — why, a lot of them are around here! Let's get them all out to the house tonight and have a little "reunion" of our own.

Boy — Great! Let's go call them up now.

Girl — O.K.! Say — this is going to be like old times!

Prophecy of the Class of 1933

Place: White House — President's Office

Time: 1953

PRESIDENT — (seated at desk upon which repose bundles of papers and three or four telephones.) “Jimmy”! “Jimmy”! Where is that office boy? “Jimmy”! “Jimmy” Leh! How do you ever expect to get promoted to chief water-cooler if you don’t pay attention? (Glares offstage.) (Telephone rings.) (Lifting receiver) Yes? No, this isn’t the house for misused cats. What? Oh! (Click) (Mutters to himself.) (Another telephone rings.) Yes? Oh, send her in!

Secretary of Labor — (enters.) Mr. President, I do think I ought to receive a little consideration around here. What on earth ever induced you to put Lucille Streeter in as Secretary of the Treasury? If a few of these scatter-brained cabinet members don’t stop offering me suggestions in my department I’ll stage a little war of my own. Speaking of war, Secretary of War, Edward Shea, and Secretary of the Navy, Stanley Slahetka, about drive me mad. “Gulley” Robbins, Secretary of State, isn’t so bad, but Attorney-General, Arthur Strahan, and Secretary of the Interior, Harry Short, are just plain stupid. As near as I can figure out, you made only one intelligent appointment in the whole Cabinet. And what, Mr. President, ever induced you to let Postmaster-General, Winthrop Sanderson, raise the price of stamps another cent? Good Heavens, I receive only half the fan mail I used to.

President — Ah, well, we all make mistakes. How do you and the Secretary of Agriculture, Edith Stetson, and the Secretary of Commerce, Thora Ruckstuhl, get along now?

Labor — Oh, not so bad, but they are trying at times. It isn’t as if I weren’t up to my ears with office seekers. Here’s a list of the most touching cases I’ve interviewed this morning! Rolland Plumley, Jennie Popko, Janet Woodard, Mildred Wanegar, Arlene Walsh, Ruth Weymouth, and Eleanor Ware.

President — Oh, well, cheer up, old dear. I guess these jobs are getting on both our nerves. Don’t you wish we could go back to the old days?

Labor — Yes, quite often I do, “Nick.” I wish it were as easy to leave these jobs as it was to cut classes back in old G.H.S.

President — Here’s a copy of the “Gill Bugle” (which blows once a month) that I received this morning. “Johnny” Broughan is editor of it under the new management. I notice quite a few familiar names in looking over the staff: City Editor, “Len” Desautels; Sport Editor, Bertrand Dwyer; Type Washer, Edith Fiske; Head Pressman, James Flavin; Printer’s Devil, “Bud” Hebert; Society Editor, Janet Chamberlin; Household Page, Ada Harper.

Labor — Isn’t that just fine? May I see it? What’s this? Why, the Franklin County A. C. (awful clumsy) Baseball team beat the Worcester County Sluggers 4–3. I’ll tell the world that’s a baseball team. “Jimmy” Donovan is manager; right guard, “Charlie” McDonald; left guard, Charles Peloquin; fullback, “Jimmy” Murphy; half back, “Tal” Griswold; pitcher, “Charlie” Mroz; forward, Chester Ozdarski; shortstop, John Voetsch; tackle, “Billy” McGahan; center, “Bob” Murphy; catcher, “Johnny” Pervere; right wing, “Paddy” Lavin; and left wing, “Ray” Dunn.

President — There on the third page you’ll see how Orrin Lincoln trisected the angle. Have you been to any good concerts lately?

Labor — Yes, indeed. Here’s the program of one I attended last evening with Harry Koch, Minister to the Sandwich Islands. Frank Bemis led the orchestra.

President — Frank, oh, he’s the one who made Einstein’s “Minuet in the key of R” famous. Let’s see — first fiddle, Marjorie Annis; second fiddle, Mary Andrews; third fiddle, Mabel Bergeron; fourth fiddle, Helen Conway; piccolo, Barbara Bassett; clarinet, Eleanor Barnes; ivory tickler, Lucy Bresciano; French horn, Viola Bruffee; flute, Francis Charette; bass drum, Arlene Cook; 'cello, Margaret Cushion; shoe horn, Mary Dagilus; tuba, Catherine Daly; trombone, Sophie Dana; sweet potato, Luther Thompson. In conjunction with this a double quartet which has saved the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals much chloroform, sang. In the quartet were: Henry Ayer, Harold Baker, Dwight Barker, George Bassett, David Bernard, Ernest Berry, Verne Calkins, Edwin Chevalier and "Ed" Bousquet.

Labor — Say, "Nick," whom do you suppose I saw last week but our old friend, "Bert" Crouse. I had tea with him. You know "Bert's" hair received so much attention that he's let it grow and now he's advertising a new finger wave guaranteed to make you seasick.

President — I got a letter from my old friend, Anita LaLancette, yesterday. She's running the Greenfield Town Farm. She said that Millers Falls had its election last Tuesday. Isidore Waitkus is mayor; Frank Mauri, is to pave the streets with his biscuits; John Greene is to clean the streets with his hot air, while "Larry" Kniskern and Robert Hoar are aldermen. John Williams is dogcatcher. "Dave" Toomey is water commissioner 'cause he's all wet; Elwyn Whitcomb, Howard Spat, Guido Marini are the Police Force. They say the arm of the law reaches far into the ice box. Anthony Uzdavinis, Donald Smith and Edward Popko are firemen, and Robert Wallner, Richard Tubbs and "Eddie" Viens are fence viewers.

Labor — Oh, it just makes me home-sick to hear so much about the old neighborhood. Tell me, do you ever see Janet Coolidge now?

President — Haw! Haw! Haw! Yes, she, "Dot" Brownell and Faith Crossman came in the other day to ask me to lay the corner stone of their Home for Diseased Camels.

Labor — Well, well, well, say, "Nick," why don't you give a big reunion ball for all your old friends. That would be jolly!

President — Well you see, Katie —

Labor — Oh, you mean your housekeeper, Catherine Lawrence. I always said, "Nick," that you should marry! It's disgraceful how that woman runs you and the White House. Pink lamp shades in the green room! Now, if you had that ball you could invite Mary Lalor, Minister to Ethiopia, June Parent, Ambassador to Japalapa, "Gene" Lapointe, Secretary from Alabama, and his secretary, Stacia Kunasko.

President — Well, I'll promise to think it over. Say, do you remember "Joe" Cocco, President of the Drinkwater Tea Company? His tea-tasters are: Helen Dedenas, Lena DeGrano, Louis Deland and Ethelyn Deneault. "Joe" told me confidentially that he was banking his millions in the River Bank and Trust Company.

Labor — I seem to have read something about that bank yesterday. Virginia Whitney is president; Elaine Patnode, Vincent Smith, and Lillian Lamot are gold dusters; Mildred Pochus, Mary Quinlan, and Jeannette Richards are accountants (they can account for the money that comes in but not for what goes out.) Ruth Rawson, Rachel Reed, Lebetha Reum are stenographers; and Ida Bardwell, Helen Behaylo and Lucille Brown are tellers. "Dolly" Blake is keeper of keys; Mary Bowe is stamp licker and Doris Calkins is stamp sticker; "Phil" Bergeron is elevator boy. Is that right?

President — Guess it is. My arithmetic was never any good.

Labor — Say do you know of any good girls' schools? A friend of mine was asking me the other day.

President — I certainly do — The Lily of the Valley Junior College. The dean is Hildreth Rittall; Domestic Science teacher is Jerry Dwyer; Instructor of the Harp is "Jimmie" Graves; Groom is Willard Hall; Riding Instructor is Don Maynard; Physical Education teacher is "Fred" Hawkes; Instructor in Manners and Deportment is Sol Myers; Hairdresser is John Nichols; Needlework teacher is Russell Hebert; Sculpturing Instructor is George Babits; Sunday School teacher is Randolph Mason; House Mother is Leslie Kelley, LLD, PHD, BVD, COD, RFD. (Knocks over a vase of flowers.) Oh, piffle!

Labor — Oh, what a shame! Such lovely flowers!

President — Speaking of flowers, I heard that “Don” Jalbert and “Nan” Failla were married. They’re running a greenhouse, raising pansies. - - - Say, old girl, I’ve got a couple of tickets to “Bob” McCain’s flop of the season, “My Grandmother’s Hair in Two Parts.” It’s so bad we can’t afford to miss it. In it are: “Chuck” Benjamin, Second Clark Gable; Herman Foster, and George Giovanazzi, Second Laurel and Hardy; “Ken” French, Second Ben Turpin; Ursula Hine, Second Helen Hayes; Benjamin Jalicki, Second Rubinoff; “Flash” Burleigh, Second Buster Crabbe; Roy Gorman, Second Karl Dane; Anna Maniatty, Second Kate Smith, and Rachael Kniskern, Second Mae West. There is also a specialty dance, the Three Graces, Fire, Quake, and Water — Jean Naramore, Ethel Newcomb and Mary McGrath. The Chorus girls are: Hazel Curtis, “Dot” Kronvall, Virginia Larabee, Marion Mayer, Irene Myers and Hazel O’Hara. In conjunction with this, the picture, “Cave Woman,” starring Dorothy Malloch, “Joe” Markoski, and Helen Murphy, as Little Bo-Peep, is to be presented.

Labor — (powdering nose.)

President — What nice smelling powder you use!

Labor — Oh, yes, I get it at the beauty shop run by Ida Glabach, Etta Goyette, and Mary Foster. It is their boast that they could make even Ben Turpin beautiful. By the way, “Nick,” you look tired.

President — I am. I sprained my eye-brow riding on Marjorie Thurlow’s wheelless roller-skates. I’m going to wire my foreman, Charles Thayer, of my ranch in Colrain to expect me next week. Mentioning ranches, Maurice Leighton is running one on Canada Hill. His cowhands are: Richard Perry, Richard Rist, Henry Seremeth, “Chet” Sokolosky, Newman Wright and “Joe” Karas. “Joe” is raising squash. Marion Kamienski is competing with him at her farm on Rocky Mountain. Her farmerettes include: Lena Bielawski, Olga Waynelovich, Edna Tamulis, Jennie Smiertka and Wanda Sadowski.

Labor — Yes, I hear they’re competing for the trade of Edna Hartwell’s, Mary Kalinoski’s, and Emily Hawkins’ Food Shop.

President — Yes, to say nothing of Evelyn Hennessey who is running a roadhouse on Bear Mountain. Helen Jones, Marion Horner, and Leaphine Hescock are hostesses; while “Joe” Kalinoski, Edmund Holmes and Louis Haskins are gigolos.

Labor — Several of our old class have become quite famous: Simon Lapseritis invented a squirtless grapefruit; Gregory Johnson broke all world non-stop flight records, (he simply wiggled his ears); Herman Barger is furnishing furniture from Sing Sing; “Joe” Reddin, the famous sportsman, is still hunting for the Lost Chord; Mildred Powers and Glendeen Quick are selling sneezeless snuff; while Albert Morrell is a soap-box orator for the same concern. Harold Meyers has been voted a human megaphone by his friends.

President — Yes, indeed. And our friends “Dot,” “Dick” and “Bob” Frary of Frary, Frary, and Frary, Attorneys-at-Law, spend most of their time defending each other. Harry Blaisdell and Howard Palmer are busy cleaning the Eiffel Tower. Last season “Herbie” White, William Pulaski, “Eddie” Chyz, “Johnny” Bonk and “Kennie” Suhl succeeded in going over the Junior Jump, so they’re thinking of entering the Olympics at Skipole, N. H. “Eddie” Aaron is the exclusive tailor for Mahatma Ghandi.

Labor — Say, did you know that Earl Suhl, “Ted” Thacker, “Peanut” Brocklesby, Francis Brennan, and Winthrop Dadmun hung around Shattuck Park so much they’ve turned it into a zoo, and Earl Lynde got arrested for trying to sell peanuts to the monkeys? Michael Tondera and “Joe” Condraski are still bumming to the World’s Fair. I hear they’ve got as far as Turners Falls.

President — Say, on your trip to Alaska did you see “Bill” Coughlin? He’s running an ice cream parlor in Nome, they tell me.

Labor — Yes, indeed. And on my way over I stopped in Bohemia, where I met a bunch of school teachers. Beatrice Elmer is teaching Pig Latin, Lucille Fregeau, Spanish, and June Garrand, higher mathematics. From there, I went to South Africa where Harland Pratt is teaching German, “Joe” Pregony is making shoes and "Cap" Pulaski is picking locks. "Cap" learned his profession at Yale, you know.

President — Haw! Haw! Haw! Whom do you suppose I saw the other day? Elmer Hallowell, still riding his bicycle. He doesn't know the Depression is over. Robert Haskins, who is in the Northwest Mounted Police, just got his man. (Yelling offstage) Hey "Jimmy," tell "Bernie" Lillie, window washer of the Treasury Building, to come over here tomorrow and wash these windows!

Labor — Say, did you know that "Peg" Mahoney, the budding novelist, has raised herself from nothing to a state of extreme poverty?

President — No. (Picking up cable) Here's a cable from Rear-Admiral Cecil Merriott. He says the fleet is in fine condition. Some of the other members of our class who have become sea-minded are: Frederick Mulroney, Captain; "Bus" Newhall, first mate; Russell Nimmons, quarter-master; George Norman, Deck duster; "Bill" Northway, Chief steward; Edna Ogonis, Chief stewardess; and Water boiler, Edward Paulin.

Labor — Say, President, what are you going to do about this bill calling for 10.8 beer?

President — I'm not sure. I have a letter from Harry Rediker, the Beer Baron, urging it. Say, I heard that Velma Raymond, Marjorie Reynolds, Mary Rogers and "Tiny" Romanovich are posing for animal crackers.

Labor — That's nothing. Alfred Richardson is the paper doll artist for the Pictorial Review while "Betty" Smith has become renowned as the big butter and egg woman from the South. Bernard Visser set out to be a great runner, but he stubbed his toe and quit. George Stasinopoulos is now a millionaire because he put zippers on his bananas.

President — I read in the paper this morning that Minnie Solomon succeeded in selling a Chevrolet to Henry Ford. "Bob" Germon is the human ventilator in the Empire State Building. Helen Gibbs is a philanthropist — she Gibbs 'til it hurts! John Giniusz is the elevator boy in the Old South Church.

Labor — Say, "Nick," have you seen my new car? It was made by the Gallup and Goodspeed Motor Car Company.

President — You don't say? How are Irene and Louise these days?

Labor — Fine and dandy, I guess. Frances Yourga is their chief mechanic. Well, I must be running along. I have an appointment at Russell Henry Fiske's dressmaking establishment in ten minutes. His mannequins are Ann Talbot, Priscilla Sproul, Helen Spencer, "Bobbie" Brooks and Irene Smith, you know. After that I have an appointment at Helen and Olive Payne's dentist office.

President — Well, I hate to see you go. We've had a charming afternoon. Drop in again sometime.

Labor — I will, Goodbye.

Stella Ida Crowell
Nicholas Peter Poulos

What Now?

"Nothing is done, finally and right.

Nothing is known, positively and completely."

THIS quotation from Lincoln Steffens contains considerable food for thought.

At first, as we consider this, our minds naturally turn to the past, when the pioneers worked under great hardships, but, despite them all, made great advancements. Certainly, our country, today, is very different from the place it was centuries ago. Then, as we further reflect, we wonder if perhaps Mr. Steffens were wrong. However, in spite of our apparent perfection and completeness of knowledge today, is there not a chance for improvement in the future? I shall try to answer this question.

Only a little over four hundred years ago the American continent was a vast wilderness, inhabited only by Indians, who for centuries had made no signs of advancement. The American pioneers, such as the well-known Pilgrims, with only a few crude implements, paved the way for civilization and progress on the continent.

Let us consider the early forms of transportation. The sailboats that used to cross the ocean were several months in crossing. On the other hand, when we consider travel on land at that time, we discover that, when George Washington was inaugurated, he was a month late for the ceremony because of bad roads and poor conveyances.

When Robert Fulton made the first steamship, you will remember that the people laughed at his crude contraption. The point is that from that crude beginning the steamship has been steadily improved until now there are those which can cross the Atlantic in less than one week. They are comfortable, luxurious, and safe.

Our national government was formed only a little more than a century and a half ago. At the outset, it was an experiment, which for several years wavered between success and failure. Nevertheless, today, because of the constant progress of our people, our nation and government is one of the greatest in the world.

Tradition has said that Manhattan Island was once sold for barter valued at about twenty-five dollars. That is hardly believable today, when it has become overcrowded with huge skyscrapers and costly bridges. This is merely one example of the steady growth and improvement of our cities, their public buildings, and private homes.

The development of photography is one of the most astounding advancements in the records of progress. It is only during the past fifty years that the camera and its possibilities have been truly recognized. Out of it has grown in recent years the perfection of moving pictures. Only three or four years ago, we were perfectly contented to watch silent movies. Yet, how queer it would seem if today we went to a theatre and no sound accompanied the moving picture!

The history of the automobile, and more recently, the airplane, is even more startling. Thirty-five years ago automobiles were a rarity. Today we cannot pass through the business district of a town without seeing hundreds of them parked or moving on the street. Thirty years ago the Wright Brothers made their first airplane flight. It lasted only a few minutes, but it proved to the world that heavier-than-air craft could fly. Since then the airplane has been perfected to a marvelous degree.

Hardly a home in the United States is minus a radio today; yet did you ever stop to think that the first radio broadcast was a short thirteen years ago? We should feel lost without this marvelous instrument which brings to us directly not merely entertainment but also important messages from both our state governors and our national president. Indeed, the radio has made the world seem much smaller than it did prior to its first appearance.

Electricity — what a wide variety of things that word suggests! Little did Benjamin Franklin realize when he made his now famous kite experiment that within two centuries electricity would be practically indispensable in nearly every branch of industry. We are indebted to a great degree to Thomas Edison for his great discoveries and advancements in the field of electricity. What would our modern housewives do without such things as the electric stove, the electric refrigerator, the electric washing machine and all the other household articles? Probably the most important of all is the incandescent electric light. Certainly none of us would want to be deprived of that.

Now what? Here we are in the midst of a great era when everything seems to be done; everything seems to be known. Let us stop for a moment to determine whether or not this is the true situation.

What of our government? Is it a perfect, faultless object? My answer is, no. If it contained no flaws, we should not have to be continually making new laws, or amending our constitution, as seems apparent today.

Have our cities reached the peak of their existence? Certainly, when we see the new homes being built each day and the larger and stronger skyscrapers rising upward, our answer must be, no.

Only the other day, I read of recent developments in a new photographic lens and film whereby these are sensitive to a ray which is invisible to the human eye. Such things as these show that there is still much to be done; and still much to be learned in the realm of photography.

Each year new designs and new conveniences are being made for use on the land, on the sea, and in the air. Competition plans an important part in keeping these struggles for perfection alive. The life of the radio has just begun. From what can be learned by recent experiments, it is probable that in the near future, radios will present the image of the speaker as well as his voice.

Again we return to electricity. Despite all the modern appliances which operate by our merely plugging a fixture into a socket, the fact remains that no one has been able to explain exactly what electricity is.

Can we then say that this world of comfort and modern conveniences is one of perfection? No. We must rather, I believe, agree with Lincoln Steffens; take the world as it is; and strive to do our part in making it advance toward completion.

Valedictory

CLASSMATES:

For four years we have worked together in Greenfield High School. We have faced hardships and disappointments, but we have weathered them all. Now the time has come when we must bid good-bye to our high school and many of the friends whom we have found here.

What now? We are graduating from youth to manhood and womanhood. From now on, it is we who must advance the work which our forefathers have already begun. As we do this, let us always keep before us the reminder that our world is not perfect; that there is nothing which cannot be improved; that there is nothing about which more cannot be learned.

Class Song

Dear G.H.S., we sing to thee,
The Class of '33!
Through four long years we've held you dear,
And now that parting time is here
Two hundred strong we praise thy name —
The Class of '33!

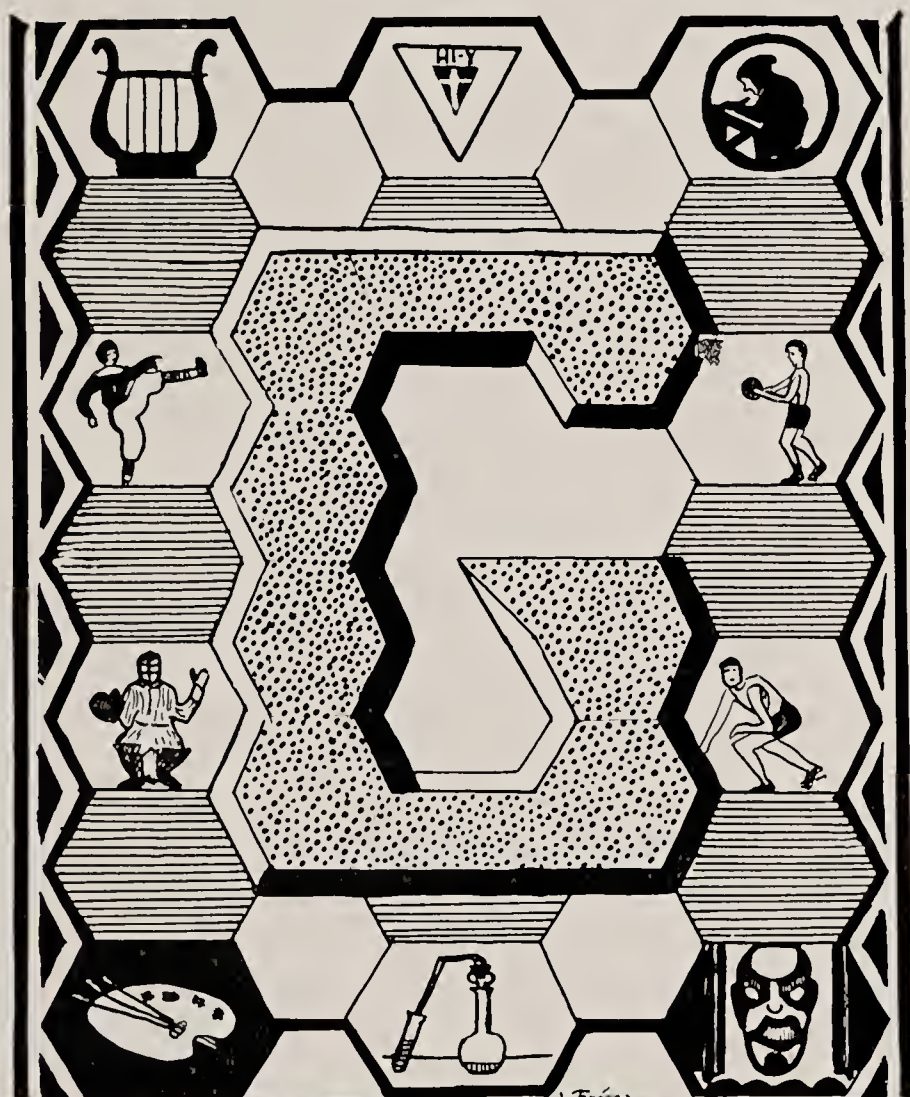

Our goal at last we've come to see,
The Class of '33!
But as we give our joyous cheers
Somehow our hearts give way to tears
For these good friends that have to part —
The Class of '33!

We've worked and fought for praise for thee,
The Class of '33,
But we begrudge not one small task,
And all today that we do ask
Is that this work be carried on —
The Class of '33!
